

The Jakoparts Numbering System

The online catalogue – all parts in one place!

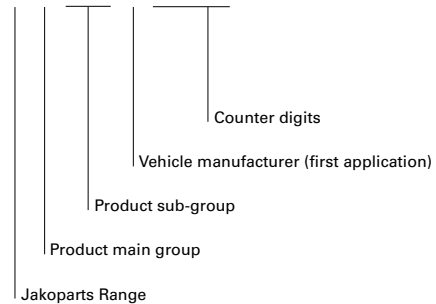

The best for Asian vehicles!

Quality parts from Herth+Buss Jakoparts can be recognised simply on account of their article number! The protected numbering system guarantees quality and fast part assignment. As the examples show, the 8-digit classified numbering system follows a clear structure, starting with the letter “J” for Jakoparts. This is followed by classification according to main product groups, then the 2-digit product sub-group number. The next number shows is an indication of the vehicle manufacturer. The last two digits are simply used for counting. Such a well thought-out numbering system allows employees familiar with the system to get information from the number, thus ensuring the fault-free expansion of the range.

Example for Japanese application: Wheel bearing kit J4703002
